EIGHT REALES & PESOS OF LATIN AMERICA

This group of Latin American crowns is the largest and most impressive that we have offered. Many of the choice and rare pieces are from the DAN SANDER collection. Mr. Sander's collection was formed over a 20 year period during which he searched for quality in a numismatic field where choice pieces are infrequently encountered. Serious collectors should note the unusual number of high grade items offered.

Investment-conscious buyers should give serious consideration to Latin American coinage, particularly in the better grades. This field has been largely overlooked during the past eight years while prices of European, Oriental, Scandanavian and United States coins have increased tremendously. We have noted a recent increase in activity in this series; traditionally this increase in buying by dealers has been a harbinger of substantial market increases.

"E" numbers refer to Elizondo's Second Edition of "EIGHT REALES & PESOS OF THE NEW WORLD."

GUATEMALA COUNTERSTAMPS OVER CROWNS

191. -Counterstamp of Sun over 3 mountains. Over Guat. Cob 8R. 1749J. Underlying coin is very nice albeit holed. C/S is VF 70.00
192. -Sun over 3 mountains C/S and the curious serrated (zigzag) C/S thought to be from Salvador. Struck over Peru 8R. 1839MB. VF 125.00

*193. -Bow and Arrow/Sun over 3 mountains counterstamp (E-Guat 6) over Peru Royalist 1824 counterstamp which in turn, is struck over a Lima Republic 8 Reales 1822JP. Ex-Fonrobert Collection, 1878, Lot 7390. TWO KNOWN of this numismatically and historically important item. VF-EF 1500.00

*194. -Bow and Arrow on obverse/Sun over 3 mountains on reverse. This specimen had both these C/S applied twice each from the same die. It is numismatically important since it shows that this obverse & reverse C/S was applied back-to-back simultaneously. This is the only specimen known to us with a double application of the counterstamps. The coin, a Peru 8R. 1826, is a nicely toned EF and all four counterstamps are nearly as struck. VERY RARE 350.00

579. -1938 SPECIMEN SET IN ORIGINAL HAND-CARVED WOODEN PRESENTATION CASE. Contains two specimens - one showing the obverse and the other the reverse - of each of the four new issues of the newly established constitutional government of Brazil as decreed October 11, 1937. These four issues (Types of Yeoman 57-60) were to commemorate the presidency of Dr. Getilio Dornelles Vargas. These eight specimen strikes were housed in a specially prepared wooden case designed in the shape of a Bible with the lid sliding freely through grooves. The lid has an inset in gold-painted mahogany which features the portrait and name of Vargas much as it appears on the coins. A circle separates the bust and name from an inscription which reads "Moedas Comemorativas Do Estado Novo ·1938·" (Portuguese, meaning "Commemorative Coins of the New State, 1938".) The tray of the case is inscribed "CASA DA MOEDA - RIO" (meaning "The Mint, Rio de Janeiro".) This set, together with its case, indicates that this series was intended as a commemorative issue, much like most of Brazil's coinage of 1932-1939.

This VERY RARE presentation set was presented to the eminent Brazilian numismatist Kurt Prober and remained in his collection until its dispersement after his death. This is the only such set we know of that is available to private collectors Today . . . 375.00

*976. NICARAGUA: Nicaragua-Granada. Provisional 1/2 Real (1823-4). This coin has an obscure past and we could locate no mention of it in our library. However, we now know of two other specimens in important Latin American collections. The most plausible attribution maintains that the "G" on the obverse represents Granada, an important city in colonial Nicaragua. The pomegranate is closed similar to the shield of colonial Granada and unlike the issues of Nueva Granada, Colombia. The reverse has the Spanish cross with lions and pomegranates in its four quadrants (this peculiarity should be noted by researchers). The style is similar to that of the Iturbide period 1823-24 (see Honduras 1/2 Real 1823 C11). Below the obverse pomegranate are the tops of two numerals which appear to be "24" (for 1824).

From the collection of Jose T. Medina and certainly a VERY RARE and important coin. Additional comments and research are solicited. (See PHOTO) P.O.R.

*1087. -PASCO 2 Reales 1843 M C130c. ONLY TWO REALES OF PASCO - THREE SPECIMENS KNOWN OF THE TYPE. This is one of the rarest of all Latin American Types. Page 1510 of the December 1971 World Coins pictured and identified this coin; the Type was not previously known to collectors in North America. That article stated that only two were known. After extensive research into the contents of major collections in South America, it is now known that three pieces exist. One of the other two recently changed hands at a price around $800. Considering the romance of the Pasco coinage, the great rarity of the type, and the values of similar items in more sophisticated series, we feel that this coin is actually underpriced on today's market. Nonetheless we offer our specimen in fine condition at 750.00

Este billete es convertible en bonos de la Republica de Cuba, al presentacion en, La Tesoreria de la Junta, en cantidades de cien pesos a lo menos. New York, Agosto 17 de 1869." (The Republic of Cuba, by authority of the Republican Central Council of Cuba and Puerto Rico, recognizes itself indebted to the bearer in the amount of one Peso. This note is convertible into bonds of the Republic of Cuba when presented in amounts of more than 100 pesos to the treasury of the Council. New York, August 17, 1869.) Red seal, serial #5919, three signatures, RARE when signed (this issue is sometimes available unsigned.) Not to be confused with the regular 1869 Cuba issues. EF 200.00

1237. -G&H 512. 5 Pesos 1869. Similar to #1236 above, except for denomination. Serial #7317. Also has signatures and thus is quite RARE. EF 250.00
(NOTE: We might point out that #1236 and #1237 above were issued in New York by the Republican Central Council of Cuba and Puerto Rico. This was a revolutionary organization with no authority to issue notes. These certificates were never legal tender in Puerto Rico and never circulated there. In this respect, they are not unlike the Cuba Souvenir Pesos of 1897, 1898 and 1965.)

THE COINAGE OF CENTRAL AMERICA

Beginning with cob coins or "macuquines" as they were called by the populace, Guatemala was the first mint to strike coins specifically for the countries of Central America. These pieces were struck under Spanish colonial rule beginning in 1733. With the exception of proclamation "coins," medals that circulated, none of the other Central American nations struck coinage prior to their independence from Spain (Mexico is properly considered to be in North America.)

Beginning, however, shortly after 1821 and continuing until now, a rich variety of coins, counterstamps, tokens, and medals have been produced in these countries. The first thirty years of independence were rather chaotic for the area; resultingly many of the coins struck were low-production provisional issues. The major exception was the coinage produced under the name of the Central American Federation. These pieces were beautifully designed and generally well-struck. As the federation rapidly proved itself inoperative, an interesting series of counterstamps and tokens became a major portion of the circulating hard currency. Many of these counterstamps were struck to nationalize the large quantity of foreign monies then circulating.

Beginning in the decade 1850-1860, the coinages of each of the individual countries became a reflection of the flavor of the particular region. To describe those coinages collectively would be an inaccurate appraisal of their individual charms and tendencies. Therefore we offer the following comments about each individual series or group.

PATTERNS AND TRIAL STRIKES: Unlike some European countries, the Central American nations produced relatively few pattern pieces. Most of the fairly common pieces in this series are of European origin and may have been attempts by private mints in Europe to solicite business. Most trial strikes are rare.

GOLD COINS: Excluding recent issues, there is a very small number of Central American gold coins that are available in quantity. The gold series of Guatemala and Costa Rica are somewhat extensive with many pieces being available to the collector of moderate financial means. Nearly all issues of Salvador and Honduras are rare.

BRITISH HONDURAS: Beginning with the "GR" counterstamps of 1810-1820 and continuing through the coinage of the mid-1960's, there is a large number of coins from this country that are very scarce in superior condition. With most mintages being under 60,000, this series offers a severe challenge to the quality-minded collector. Most dates are frequently available in very worn or corroded condition however.

COSTA RICA: The coinage of this country offers a rich variety of scarce and rare types, dates, counterstamps, and varieties. There are several unusually attractive designs and a number of coinage style changes that add to its appeal. Nevertheless, relatively few collectors have undertaken the enormous challenge that this series offers by date, or even by type.

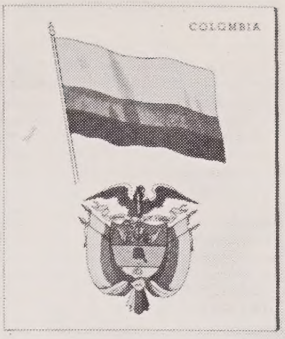
GUATEMALA: Having suffered through many coinage law changes and shortages, the coinage of Guatemala offers one of the most complex, varied, and interesting series to study and collect. Collectors will find few series that have so many different items, most of which can be obtained in circulated condition for very small premiums. There are many yet unappreciated rare dates in this series.

HONDURAS: If you reread our comments about Costa Rica and Guatemala, add them together and multiply by 2, you will have an idea of the intrigue of this series. Few persons have attempted to collect this coinage as it contains many rarities. We should warn that unlike Canadian and USA rarities, many of these coins are simply unavailable to all but the most searching collecor.

NICARAGUA: A relatively modern series with no rare or truly scarce types. Superior condition coins of certain dates are very rare.

PANAMA: The subject of more speculation and manipulation than the composite remainder of these series. Nonetheless, there are several very scarce and attractive issues in superior condition.

SALVADOR: Although the modern series is comparatively sparse, the provisional and counterstamped coins of Salvador reflect the uncertainty and novelty which give romantic flavor to the entire Central American series. As can be readily noted from our tentative listing of counterstamped and provisional types, the early coinage of Salvador presents a legitimate challenge to the true numismatist.



CCI WILL BE VISITING LATIN AMERICA

The countries represented by these flags are those that Freeman Craig, Jr. will be visiting on his upcoming trip to South and Central America. Collectors and dealers who wish to see him during his lengthy trip are asked to write to our offices by December 10th. Clients having a want list containing important items from the coinages of any of these countries are invited to submit their lists by December 10th.
